

DEPUTY SHERIFFS' PAY MUST COME FROM EARNINGS

CARLSTROM GIVES ANSWER TO MARK KELLER'S LETTER

Exhaustive Commentary on Sheriff's Job by Attorney General

Springfield, Ill., March 20—(AP)—An exhaustive commentary on regulations concerning sheriff's fees and earnings has been written by Attorney General Carlstrom in answer to a number of questions by Mark C. Keller, state's attorney of Lee county.

In answer to a question of whether the county is liable for deputy sheriff hire, in excess of earnings available from the sheriff's office, the attorney general said the county board may not pay the sheriff anything in excess of the earnings from his office.

The opinion also said that the sheriff is not responsible for uncollectible fees if he has properly recorded them on his books.

Mr. Carlstrom's commentary follows:

State's Attorney Mark C. Keller submitted a list of questions to the attorney general early in the month, together with a list of cases cited. The question and answers submitted, are given as follows:

1—Is the county liable for the deputy sheriff hire in excess of earnings available from the sheriff's office? If so to what extent?

In answer to this question, permit me to call your attention to section 10 of article X of the Constitution of 1870 which provides as follows:

"The county board shall fix the compensation of all county officers, of the amount of their necessary clerk hire, stationery, fuel and other expenses; and in all cases where fees are provided for, said compensation shall be paid only out of, and shall in no instance exceed, the fees actually collected."

Our Supreme Court in passing upon the construction of this section of the Constitution says:

Cites Court Decision

"The Constitution after providing for the fixing of compensation and clerk hire, stationery, fuel and other expenses of the office provides: 'Said compensation shall be paid only out of, and shall in no instance exceed, the fees actually collected.' Thus it will be seen that the fees earned and collected by the officer constitute the only fund out of which his compensation can be paid. Any attempt on the part of the county to appropriate other funds of the county in payment would be ultra vires and void."

And the Supreme Court later announced the following principle:

"The principle of all the decisions is, that the compensation, including the expenses of the office, is to be paid, if at all, out of the fees and emoluments of the office, and that there is no liability and there can be no recovery for expenses which have not been fixed in advance by the county board."

You will see therefore from the above authorities that your county board is without authority to pay the sheriff and the expenses of his office, which would include deputy sheriff hire, anything in excess of earnings available from such sheriff's office.

2—Is the sheriff or deputy sheriff entitled personally to fees for serving process from a foreign country? (Note—From Cook county to be served in Lee county?)

Your second question has to be answered in the negative because if such persons did not occupy the position of sheriff or deputy sheriff they could not legally serve such papers. It is evident therefore that the fees charged for serving such papers is an emolument belonging to the sheriff's office.

Sheriff Not Responsible

3—What fees may the sheriff carry on his books as uncollectible? Is he personally responsible for fees not collected?

"By the statute (sec. 51, chap. 53) it is made the duty of the sheriff, in addition to keeping in a book in his office, a full and true and minute account of all fees and emoluments of his office earned, and of all payments received on account thereof, etc., to make a return, on the first day of June and December of each year, to the chairman of the board of supervisors, which shall show the gross amount of the earnings of his office, and the total amount of receipts on account thereof, of every name and character. Such a report is to be returned under the oath of the officer, as being a just and true account of fees earned, and of all money, articles of property, or other consideration directly or indirectly received by or paid to such officer. The evident purpose or intent of the legislature was to require a full and complete report of all sums of money and values received by the officer, as well as of fees earned, so that the board might therefrom be apprised of the true state and condition of the business of the office."

In view of the foregoing language, it is my opinion that it is the duty

EXTREME CARE FOR PRESIDENT AS HE TRAVELS

Railroad Man Tells of Precautions Taken for Executive

New York, Mar. 20—(AP)—So careful are the railroads when a President travels that a pilot train is sent ahead to test the tracks and virtually all routine is upset that he may reach his destination safely. Even the hundredth chance of accident or delay is eliminated. H. J. Reynolds, an assistant superintendent of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad said today in describing the trip of the President to Vermont.

The highest executives took personal charge of the President's special. Block controls were examined and hand picked crews were selected for the train. Railroad police were at signal offices and stations along the route.

Special police were aboard and relief engines waited with steam up. The precautions taken were so strict, he said, that they nearly prevented President Coolidge from receiving. The Associated Press dispatches of his father's death.

"As we came into Bridgeport," he said, "I saw a red light against us. I could not understand it. Then we were told that The Associated Press had signalled us."

The sheriff to keep his books in such a manner that shall show all fees collected and all fees earned, whether collected or uncollected. I can find no statute that renders him personally liable after he has made such a showing with reference to such fees.

4—Can the county board legally pay a deputy sheriff any other fee than dollars per day or can they pay the fee provided by statute for the number of miles travelled in serving process?

Under our constitution the county board is a proper tribunal for fixing compensation for county officers and the amount of the necessary clerk hire.

Our Supreme Court in passing upon the county board's powers in such instance says:

County Board's Powers

"Although it is the amount of their necessary clerk hire, etc., which the county board is to fix, it is for the board to decide what amount is necessary. It is the amount necessary which they are to fix, and it is their duty to allow all that is necessary. Still, they are to fix the amount which is necessary, and of necessity are to determine what is necessary. And when they have acted and fixed what in their judgment is the necessary amount for clerk hire, etc., we do not see that under the constitution there is any other power which has authority to increase it, etc."

Since the constitution uses the word amount in defining the power of the county board to fix the allowance for expenses of county officers, it appears to me that the intention of the law is that the county board in voting such allowance should vote a definite amount and then the sheriff can pay such amounts from such amounts and render his account of such payments to the county board. The fees and salaries of deputies that sheriffs may make certain charge but makes no provision for their deputies making any such charges.

5—Should the sheriff devote his whole time to the duties of the office? Can he conduct a private business and devote a portion of his time during office hours to his private business?

Section 21 of chapter 125 of Smith-Hurd's Illinois Statutes, 1925 provides that—

Regarding Employment

"No sheriff or deputy sheriff shall appear in any court as attorney or counsel for any party, or become security in any civil or criminal suit or proceeding, and under section 10 of chapter 13 of the same statute, the sheriff is not permitted to practice as an attorney in the county in which he is commissioned or appointed. This is the only statutory provision with reference to what private business a sheriff may devote a portion of his time to during office hours.

The legislature in 1925 amended section 15 of chapter 125 of the law in regard to sheriffs by adding:

"Each sheriff shall keep and maintain his office at the county seat of the county for which he is the sheriff, and shall in counties having a population of less than 500,000 keep his said office open and attend to the duties thereof from 8 o'clock in the forenoon to 5 o'clock in the afternoon of each working day, excepting each day and half days as, under the law, are or may be legal holidays, or half holidays."

The legislature in using the expression "attend to the duties thereof" evidently meant that the sheriff is not to be engaged on any other business during the day.

SPRING DUE TO ARRIVE AT 3:02 SUNDAY MORNING

However Weather for the Season May be Delayed a While

Evanson, March 20—(AP)—Spring will be here officially tomorrow, but whether the calendar will be discredited by actualities, Northwestern University's savants who are watching things atmospheric, will not at the moment predict. Professor H. B. Ward of the geology department, who is something of an expert in matters pertaining to the weather, says that on March 21st winter officially makes exit after being present for 89 days and 25 minutes. He says that to be strictly accurate winter departs at 3:02 o'clock tomorrow morning, but the arrival of real spring weather is about 12 days later on an average.

"If a blizzard should happen to strike on Sunday morning, or if freezing temperatures be experienced, the average citizen will be calling the almanac misleading, to utilize a mild phrase," commented Mr. Ward. "One would say that spring is behind schedule and he would turn over in bed and take a new nap. It would not be unusual for such conditions to obtain for spring comes in a series of abrupt changes and the weather may be balmy one day and boreal the next. During the first few weeks of spring the sun is fighting against the typical winter cyclones for the mastery of the weather. The cyclones become fewer and less intense, less cold air comes from the 'Polar Front' and the strength of the sun's energy becomes greater as the noon altitude of the sun gets higher and the rays increase in length until finally the winter storms retire defeated and the warm temperatures of late spring prevail."

"But it is a hard fight for the sun. March may be the most disagreeable month of the year. Factors other than the persistence of the winter storming tend to prolong winter conditions after the equinox."

"Spring is really here when plants begin to awaken from their winter sleep which takes place at about 43 degrees F. Temperatures higher than that were recorded in February, but the mean temperature of March 21 is 38 degrees and of March 31 is 42 degrees, slightly under the critical temperature, while the mean of April 2 is 43 degrees and thereafter it is higher. Therefore we cannot expect true spring until about 12 days after the astronomical spring."

PAUL C. KELLEY, ONCE DIXONITE, DIED YESTERDAY

Funeral at Sterling Home Sunday Afternoon at 2:00

Paul C. Kelley, formerly of Dixon and Ashton, and a member of Bethel Evangelical church of this city, died at his home in Sterling at 6 o'clock Friday morning. Funeral services will be held at his home in that city at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon. Rev. S. B. Quincer, pastor of Bethel church officiating, assisted by Rev. H. K. Hostetter, assistant pastor of the Sterling Fourth St. M. E. church.

He moved to Dixon the spring of 1904 and was married to Miss Emma Schuessler of Maquoketa in that city on Dec. 24, 1904. They made their home in Dixon for five years. Mr. Kelley being in the restaurant business here.

For four years after leaving Dixon they made their home in Ashton and in 1913 they went to Sterling, that city being their home ever since.

Roads in Country Have Nothing Over Franklin's Gateway

The condition of dirt roads throughout the county is being compared with the main road entrance to the city of Franklin Grove, which is said to be in the worst condition in years. Cars mired down to the axles are not unusual sights almost any day at this time of the year on Franklin Grove's main street. Last fall contractors started building an extension to the water main system and this served to cut up the roads in some instances, but in others the excavations were made on the side of the road. Holes and deep ruts are very numerous and the most careful driver is apt to become mired on the main street leading from the Lincoln Highway to the business center of the village.

FOUR YOUNG LADS ADMIT CRACKING CHICAGO VAULTS

Chicago, Mar. 20—(AP)—Four grammar school boys, 13 to 16 years old, constituted the "tough mob of safe blowers," whose activities of three months netted seventeen safes. "Sure, we did all of those jobs," one of the lads told a police captain. "I guess we got maybe a thousand bucks."

Heavily armed and with a guarantee of extra pay and a $10 hat each promised by their captain, a detective squad took the case. Four small boys were met on the street at an early hour in the morning. A search followed their unsatisfactory answer to "what are you kids doing out at this hour?" which revealed a revolver and burglar tools. At the station the boys said safe cracking in the movies looked so easy they tried it.

Epilepsy Held Cause of Death of Moritz at State Hospital

Arthur Moritz, Dixon state hospital patient, came to his death as the result of an epileptic seizure, the jury impelled by Coroner Frank M. Banker decided last yesterday afternoon. The testimony of Dr. Henry B. Knowles, assistant supervisor of the institution, and Dr. Zolten Glatzer, member of the hospital staff who performed the autopsy was taken. Dr. Knowles had known of a case in another institution where the medicine alluded to as "No. 6 pills" had been taken with suicidal intent, proving fatal and another instance at the local institution which did not prove fatal and the symptoms were very much unlike those surrounding the death of Moritz.

PUBLIC TRIBUTE TO DR. HARRIET GARRISON, PLAN

Popular Subscriptions to Fund for Veteran Doctor Sought

Friends of Dr. Harriet E. Garrison, veteran physician in Dixon, are starting a campaign to raise a cash fund to present to her in appreciation of her lifetime of service in this community.

J. H. Weltzel and F. J. Ellis, representatives of the Chicago Businessmen's Insurance Company, are the organizers of the movement and they say they expect to raise a substantial fund. A record is being kept of the donors. The public is urged to respond to this call and subscriptions of any amount will be gladly accepted at the Evening Telegraph office or at the City National Bank.

Dr. Garrison has been practicing medicine here for close to half a century. During her active years she had a wide influence for good and her life has been marked with deeds of kindness and generosity. Poor investments and, lately, years of illness, have brought adversity, and the sympathy and aid of the many friends of this very fine woman are certainly needed at this time.

The sum of $40 had been raised up to yesterday afternoon. It is hoped that there will be a generous and prompt response to this exceedingly worthy call.

Harnessing of Dead Sea Electric Power Proposed by Expert

Jerusalem, Mar. 20—(AP)—A plan for harnessing the electrical energy believed to be possessed by the hitherto lifeless lake known as the Dead Sea, is announced. If properly exploited, it is declared, the lake can produce a maximum of 350,000 horsepower.

The author of the plan asserts that the harnessing of the river Jordan's waters would never suffice for both electrical power and irrigation. He suggests that his scheme is the better alternative.

Fire in Gas District of Brooklyn Today Endangered Firemen

New York, Mar. 20—(AP)—Fire today in the gas house district of the Williamsburg section of Brooklyn followed a small gas tank explosion. Fear that the flames would spread to other gas tanks caused all available firemen in the district to be called.

Scores of families living in the district were ordered from their homes as precaution against danger of the flames spreading to the larger tanks. Soon after the first started 35 firemen were overcome by gas fumes, but they were revived by ambulance surgeons.

The damage is estimated at $200,000.

A suction engine exploded in the engine room, but the blast was not powerful. Soon after the blast started the flywheel of a larger engine flew off, piercing a gas holder in the same building. The escaping gas, which caught fire, added to the peril of the firemen.

PRESIDENT AND WIFE FORCED TO FACE BLIZZARD

Six Miles in an Open Sleigh Facing a Driving Storm

Plymouth, Vt., Mar. 20—(AP)—A snow storm swept over the Green Mountains of Vermont today as President Coolidge traveled over a treacherous road, part of the way in an open sleigh, from Woodstock to Plymouth to attend the funeral of his father.

The snow, wet and almost blinding, fell incessantly after it had rained throughout the night. It added a soggy blanket to the heavy fall already on the ground and made the roads next to impassable.

In the face of the storm the President and Mrs. Coolidge accompanied by their son John, started from the Woodstock Inn, where they had spent the night, over the 18 mile winding road to this hamlet, four hours before the time set for the funeral. They expected to be on the way for nearly two hours, more than half the time exposed to the wind and stinging snow flakes.

Meanwhile, at Plymouth, last minute arrangements were being made for the funeral to be held in the Coolidge farm house.

Hearse on Runners

A hearse mounted on runners and drawn by two black horses had come over the road from Woodstock; efforts were being made to bring through the storm floral tributes which had arrived at Ludlow and White River Junction, miles away over the mountains, and the Rev. John White of the nearby village of Sherburne had made his way here to conduct the services.

A grave had been dug in the hillside cemetery a quarter of a mile from Col. Coolidge's home and a last through the snow was kept open for the funeral party. A detachment of Vermont National Guardsmen was on duty here, six of the militia men having been designated to carry the body to its resting place.

Funeral at 2 O'clock

Two o'clock was the hour set for the funeral. The revised burial service of the Episcopal Church was to be used with interment immediately after the services.

The President planned to return to Woodstock late in the afternoon to board the special train for the return to Washington which will be reached tomorrow morning.

The first stage of the journey from Woodstock to the funeral was made in closed automobiles which afforded the party protection from the storm. At Bridgewater Corners, six miles from here, however, a transfer was made to sleighs, as on yesterday, and from there on the President faced March weather at its worst.

Woodstock was combed for rain coats which were placed at the President's disposal, and the three-seated sleighs, which were pressed into service, were heaped high with robes.

Entire Herd if Found Free of Tuberculosis

A herd of nineteen cows owned by Foster Stanbrough was given the tuberculin test by Dr. H. C. Barth, Lee county veterinarian, Friday, and every cow proved free of tuberculosis, verifying the owner's belief that each was clean, a remarkable record, according to Dr. Barth. Mr. Stanbrough bought a herd of fine Iowa cows 23 years ago and for seventeen years he has raised every cow on his farm. At one time he had a favorite milky cow, beside which stood five generations, and out of the five not one showed a horn. Mr. Stanbrough, who is modest concerning his cattle, plainly showed his pleasure when the veterinarian tagged the right ear of each animal, thus indicating them free from TB. Mr. Stanbrough has delivered milk to the people of Dixon for 23 years, and every year with the exception of one during the war, his herds have been inspected by state officials and during that time not a charge has been brought against him. In the 23 years he has had but two vacations, one of five days and one of three.

Twenty-six Applicants Wrote Teachers' Exams

Twenty-six applicants wrote the regular tri-annual examination for teachers certificates of the first and second grades at the office of County Superintendent W. Miller in the court house yesterday and today. Of this number eight applicants were from Whiteside county and three from Ogle county. This composed all most half of the class, coming from outside counties.

At present 34 prospective Lee county teachers are attending state normal schools, almost all of these going to DeKalb, where they are taking training for college credits instead of writing the county examinations.

NIGHTINGALE
Amid the branches of the silver bow.

The nightingale doth sing; perchance he knows

That spring hath come, and takes the later snows

For the white petals of the plum's sweet flowers.

Entertained Husbands Wednesday Evening

The members of the Dixon Women's club entertained their husbands Wednesday evening at the Y. M. C. A. rooms. The chairman who were largely responsible for the success of the delightful evening were Mrs. David Marks, program; Mrs. A. C. Bowers, games; Mrs. I. N. Habegger, refreshments. The decorations which were very pretty were complimentary to St. Patrick, patron saint of Ireland.

Those taking part in the program were Mrs. Adolph Eichler, reader, accompanied by Mrs. Will Smith, piano and Miss Mable Smith, violin. These numbers were all exceptionally good and merited the sincere applause they received.

The games were interesting and did much to get the guests acquainted, resulting in a most congenial and pleasant evening for all.

Delicious refreshments added the final pleasure completing the enjoyment of the guests, and it is hoped that more of these evenings will be held in the future.

Took Part in Program at Sterling

Misses Edna Decker, Wood and Curran of the Dixon I. N. U. office took part in the program at a meeting of the Women's Public Relations Assn. of the I. N. U. held in the Lincoln Tavern in Sterling Thursday afternoon, at which time women employees of the telephone and water companies of Sterling, Morrison, Prophetstown and Dixon were guests. Misses Wood and Curran gave an interesting sketch, "Before and After" based on the actions of an employee before and after attending one of the public relations meetings. Miss Decker spoke on the subject, "What Women Employees of the Illinois Northern Utilities Company Are Doing."

FASHION HINTS—

For the Dark Frock.
A bit of white organdie or crepe de chine brightens practically every dark frock you see, and the white vest sometimes extends from neckline to hemline.

Large Lace Shawl.
The lace scarf now comes in large squares almost as large as the Spanish scarf, and it is expected to do duty as a wrap this summer.

In Black and White.
The black satin frock for this spring usually has a short or long cape as a part of its equipment. These are loveliest when lined with white or flesh color.

Pleated Flounces.
The double pleated flounce is seen on many of the spring frocks and gives the full hemline that is so much favored.

A Demure Touch.
Many of the new summer frocks have the collars that tie in demure little bows under the chin.

Agenda Club in Happy Meeting

The members of the Agenda Club and some of the husbands, were pleasantly entertained Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Cramer. The evening was spent socially. A delicious two course luncheon was served. Hyacinths were the pretty decorations. The evening was a happy one for all attending.

Menus for the Family

Eggs in potato cases, raisin brown bread and butter sandwiches, scalloped bananas and apples, milk, tea.

Dinner—

Lamb stew with vegetables, creamed celery, stuffed prune salad, graham bread, crisp nut cookies, milk, coffee.

No dessert is planned for dinner since the salad is more or less of a combination dessert and salad. Canned fruit can be served with the cookies if wanted, but is not necessary as the meal is well balanced.

Scalloped Bananas and Apples.

Four tart apples, 3 bananas, 1 lemon, ¾ cup sugar, 2 tablespoons butter, ½ cup boiling water, 1 cup bread crumbs for most part of loaf.

Pare, quarter and core apples. Cut in thin slices and sprinkle with lemon juice. Put a thin layer of crumbs into a well buttered baking dish. Add a layer of apples, cover with a layer of bananas cut in thin slices. Sprinkle with sugar and dot with bits of butter. Add another layer of crumbs, fruit and seasonings and continue layer for layer until all is used. The last layer should be of crumbs. Pour over boiling water, cover dish and bake thirty minutes in a hot oven. Remove cover and bake ten minutes longer to crisp the crumbs on top. Serve warm with cream.

BRIDES BEWARE

Many Brave Hearts are Asleep in the Deep!

BY CYNTHIA GREY—

Some husbands will, all their born days, pronounce "deaf" as though it rhymed with "leaf," and wise is the bride who corrects him in the bosom of the home, if at all.

Many a home has been wrecked because at that critical moment when the narrating husband tells about how Aunt Lizzie always took an ear trumpet to church because she was deaf, the bride, in accents of shocked surprise, has said:

"Dear, you mean 'deaf'?"

Then he says "I know what I mean. Aunt Lizzie was deaf."

And there you are! What home could stand the onslaught?

Then there's the bride who stops the flowing course of the fishing story to say:

"No, dear, it wasn't a speckled trout. It was a bull-head."

Or—

"We weren't in a canoe. It was a row-boat."

Or—

"It wasn't the time the Joneses were with us in Michigan. That was the time we were driving through the Green Mountains and saw the deer."

What man of the house could hold his tongue at such a time?

Brides, beware! Many brave hearts are asleep in the deep, so beware! Be-ware!

look in the store window."

A Two-Way Rule.

It's a mess, I'll admit! It's only natural that husbands out toiling in the cold gray world all day want to snuggle into the home nest at night and stay there.

But it's equally only natural that the woman, inside all day, at night wants to dab on some vanishing powder and cream, get out her best hat and coat, and go off proudly on the arm of Her Man to see what the world and his wife are doing.

A few husbands see the woman's side of it. Most all wives see the man's side of it.

Mrs. George may not go forth with her husband to anything but relatives' funerals, but just watch him scamper from bedroom slippers to shoes if a man phones for him to come over for a game of poker or some trick work in an alley.

I see no excuse for a man basking in the home comforts which a wife gives him and refusing her even a servant's recreation of "one evening off" a week!

They Budget.

I know one happily married couple who have definitely budgeted their evenings in and evenings out. Besides, each has one evening for play without the other.

I think they're rather wise in cultivating some pleasures apart from one another.

I have no patience with a wife who nags her husband because he goes to

from bedroom slippers to shoes if a man phones for him to come over for a game of poker or some trick work in an alley.

I think they're rather wise in cultivating some pleasures apart from one another.

I have no patience with a wife who nags her husband because he goes to his club or gym or some purely masculine spot occasionally, without her. And I have equally no patience with a husband who "can't see" why his wife wants to "run around to these fool bridge parties," or take a French lesson or do something without him occasionally.

It's Emerson, I think, who says: "Two must be very two before they can be very one."

Dr. Cummings' Health Column

BY DR. HUGH S. CUMMING

Surgeon General, U. S. Public Health Service

There are a number of important points to be remembered in nursing a baby. It is always wise to make nursing as easy as possible for the mother and to give her opportunity for rest, therefore the sooner the baby is satisfied and gaining on a three, or even a four-hour nursing schedule the better.

It has been found that convenient hours for nursing the baby are as follows: If seven nursings are required within 24 hours the most convenient time schedule is one which runs 6 a. m., 9 a. m., 12 noon, 3 p. m., 9 or 10 p. m., and once during the night.

If six nursings are required during the twenty-four hours, a convenient schedule is 6 a. m., 9 a. m., 12 noon, 3 p. m., 6 p. m. and at the mother's bed time.

If five nursings in twenty-four hours are required, 6 a. m., 10 a. m., 2 p. m., 6 p. m., and 10 p. m., or later is the most convenient schedule.

The baby should be offered cool boiled water between feedings especially during the hot months.

The length of time for a nursing varies with the child and with the mother. The average child rarely nurses longer than fifteen minutes. The important point is to satisfy the baby. If there is any doubt, the baby should be allowed to nurse longer but not more than twenty minutes. If a child is not satisfied after twenty minutes of nursing a physician should be consulted.

It is customary to nurse one breast at each feeding and to alternate. Sometimes it happens that this method does not provide sufficient nourishment. In such cases both breasts should be given. In all cases of breast trouble a physician should be consulted. Breast abscesses are not unknown and may result if an abnormal condition is not attended to as soon as possible.

Several weeks are required for weaning. It is dangerous to wean a young baby and this should never be done without the advice of a physician.

The flow of breast milk tends to diminish when the baby nurses less than five minutes in twenty-four hours. When the baby is being nursed once every four hours and is not satisfied it is better to give him after nursing enough modified cow's milk to satisfy him rather than to replace a nursing with the bottle. Most babies need additional food after the seventh month.

New York—Broadway's choicest morsel for whispering and wisecracking is the new far-famed "wine-bath" party staged by Earl Carroll.

It's a tough year, indeed, that doesn't thrust this Carroll into the limelight through some stunt that seems just a little too carefully staged.

Thus there was the incident of the undressed pictures in the theater lobby—and Mrs. Carroll happily went to jail while columns were written about the matter.

But it wasn't always thus. There was a certain day in the life of this much-publicized young man when he put over a stunt that was a real stunt—and started him on his way to fame and fortune.

Carroll began, so the story goes, as a peddler of peanuts and popcorn in theater galleries. The spirit of the theater game got into his blood and he appeared shortly thereafter as an office boy in the office of Leo Feist, the music publisher. One day he walked up and shoved a dozen verses under the noses of the lyric writers. Thereafter he was employed as a lyric writer at $10 a week.

But this Carroll youngster was full of ideas. He was perpetually talking of what should be done and what he planned to do.

Caruso had, at this time, but recently reached America and his name was ringing across the continent.

"Well, if you want to do something so d—n bad, go out and get Caruso to write us a song," said his boss one morning.

About a week later, to the astonishment of everyone, Carroll walked in with the only song Caruso had ever written.

It was the musical "scoop" of the generation.

Carroll tossed the song carelessly upon his boss' desk, and when asked how he had done it, merely smiled mysteriously. Thereafter everybody and his brother tried to land Caruso at any price he might ask—and failed.

To this day the Caruso number is a big seller.

It put Carroll over. After that they gave him two light operas to write.

SENATE INVESTIGATORS.

The senate resolution providing for investigation of proceedings of the tariff board offered opportunity for interesting political maneuvers.

Democrats and their assistants, the insurgent republicans, departed from the rule and gave the senate a precedent of providing that the committee to be appointed by the vice president should consist of two republicans, one progressive republican and two democrats.

It is believed commonly to have been in the minds of senators that any of the several republicans who voted with the democrats on this occasion would be eligible for appointment as a "progressive" republican.

This move was conceived shrewdly. It would leave the committee as having a republican majority in form, but an anti-republican majority in fact. It looked as if the republicans and the administration had been worsted in the maneuver. They were, but the vice president gave the committee a phase that had not been anticipated.

Vice President Daves appointed Senators Wadsworth of New York and Reed of Pennsylvania, republicans; Senators Robinson of Arkansas and Bruce of Maryland, democrats, and Senator LaFollette, progressive republican.

It was the majority intention to have a committee three to two against the administration. Analysis discloses that the vice president appointed two strong republicans, Reed an able lawyer; that in his choice of democrats he named Robinson, who will conform to the ideal of those who put through the resolution, and Bruce, who would be preferred by republicans over any of the insurgents who might be on the committee as nominal republicans; that in naming LaFollette as the progressive, he found ample warrant in his action because the Wisconsin senator is the only one who lists himself in the congressional directory as a progressive republican. In addition, the vice president in advance has branded the report with any curse and prejudice the name LaFollette may carry. The investigation will proceed. Whatever is brought out will be used for campaign purposes next fall. It does not appear that anyone likes the tariff board anyhow. The organization is more of democratic than of republican design and the democrats are the ones now setting out to find fault with its operation. Should they declare that it should be abolished there will be little weeping in republican camps.

Theoretically the board is a nonpartisan body. If such an organization is permitted to exist, it ought to be formed in accordance with the general administration. If it is administering a protective tariff, the members should be protectionists. If it is administering a tariff for revenue only, the members should hold views accordingly. Responsibility should go with the administration. The tariff is a political question, and every effort to juggle it by nonpartisan board has been unsatisfactory.

OLD LAWS—AND MEN.

Miss Mabel Vernon, executive secretary of the National Woman's party, and Miss Margaret Whittemore, first vice president, are making a motor car campaign tour for "more women in Congress."

"Many of our present laws, handed down from ancient times, mock at women," says Miss Vernon. She goes on to cite one case in point, as follows:

She brought suit against the driver for $10,000. Indications were that a very good settlement might be made in her favor, as the culpability of the driver had been proved.

Then she was notified that her husband had settled the case out of court for $300. This was possible on the grounds that her injury deprived her husband of her services in the home, to which, under the law, he was entitled, with regard to his own responsibility.

The woman received no part of the $300. The husband used part of it to obtain a divorce and soon married another woman.

There's some merit in what you say, Miss Vernon.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWIN

by Olive Roberts Barton

THE BURGLAR

"Yes, sir! It's in the air," he said. "I can smell it."

Mosey Mud Turtle opened his eyes at last.

All winter long he had kept them closed—down under the mud at the bottom of Ripple Creek.

Most of the time Ripple Creek had been covered with ice, but now the ice was gone and the water and mud felt warm.

So Mosey slowly moved out of the mud and crawled up on the bank. It was then that he lifted his top shell and stuck out his head—and opened his sleepy eyes.

Mosey sniffed.

"Yes, sir! It's in the air," he said. "I can smell it. Spring! I'll have to go and get scrubbed up so I'll look decent and clean as all the other people in the Land-Where-Spring-Is Coming."

Slowly but surely he made his way toward the little secret bush that marked the path that led to Scrub-Up Land and Mister Rubadub.

But on the way he passed the tiny doorway that led down to Jimmy Jumping-Mouse's house.

"I'll stop and get Jimmy," said Mosey. "He sleeps for five solid months without waking. Heel Heel! Heel! He's as bad as I am. Old lazy bones, both of us! I'll ring his bell." So he rang Jimmy's doorbell.

But he had to ring about four times before Jimmy answered.

"Time to get up!" called Mosey cheerfully. "Come along! I'll give you a ride."

"Sure, I'll come," said Jimmy. "I'm too tired to jump that far. The springs in my feet aren't working very well."

So he hopped on Mosey's hard back, and away lumbered the turtle again.

Pretty soon Mosey came to Mike Mole's house under the sugar maple tree.

"I may as well get Mike, too!" said old Mosey.

So he rang Mike's doorbell, and pretty soon a voice called out sleepily.

"Who's there?"

"Me!" said Mosey Mud Turtle.

"What are you doing here?"

"I'm here to get you!"

"What for?"

"To get you!"

"Why not?"

"Because you're a burglar!"

"I'm not a burglar!"

MONDAY: A Promise to Help.

THE VERY IDEA

by Hal Cochran

LET 'ER COME!

Bring on the summer that's achin' to come. Bring on the season when spirit's a-hum. Sidetrack the winter that's been here so long, an' free all the birds, so they'll burst into song.

All of us long for the season that's near. All of us wish for the best time of year. We can put fresh air and sunshine to use. All that we need is the chance. Turn us loose.

"Imagine an auto atotin' a load, blazin' the trail down an old country road. Think o' the feeling that's shy of all care, out in the open abreatin' fresh air."

Winter's all right, but a wee bit too gruff. Come on warm weather, start struttin' your stuff. Fill us with pep and make us all laugh. That's what we want—and you ain't heard the half.

Yea, from the grown-up, to wee little child, everyone's cravin' to start runnin' wild. Whadda we care where yer bringin' it from—bring on the summer that's achin' to come.

Cleveland bought a diamond which turned out to be paste. She's stuck for $350.

"A wee little girl sings, 'I know something, I won't tell.' But she gets over it when she grows up."

TRY THIS ON YOUR GUITAR: He stretched his imagination and called himself broadminded.

The mouse ran up a clock, by gosh, which doesn't sound so shocking, until you find the clock in mind was in a madder's stocking.

NOW, HONESTLY—

It isn't customary to tip your lid to a man—but let's be different for the moment and take our hats off to the mailman.

He's the fellow who makes two thousand miles away seem like a couple minutes.

The letter he brings you and me from someone in the far off spots is what closes, somewhat, the gap.

Although he never knows which is which, he brings good news, sad news, and the indifferent. Let's thank him for the good and not blame him for the bad.

The only time we really need be shy on the welcome is around the first of the month.

Maybe it's the politics that's crept into booze that makes it taste so funny.

Isn't it remarkable how some old-fashioned salesgirls can smell of a piece of ribbon and tell how long it is?

TRY THIS ON YOUR KETTLE DRUMS: The policeman asked the man to accompany him but the poor fellow couldn't sing.

If so, you will be impulsive.

You will not stop to count costs, or for calm and calculating deliberation.

By the same signs you will be subject to periods of depression.

You will depend on "luck" to a great extent.

Nevertheless, you will find life reasonably enjoyable.

SUNDAY, MARCH 21

If so, you will make many helpful friendships.

You will be inclined to respect all conventionalities.

Your like experiences will cover wide fields, and you will be welcomed socially wherever you go.

You will have "bright" children.

You will not have a bent for a business career, preferring home life instead.

FRANKLIN GROVE NEWS NOTES

Franklin Grove, Mar. 18.—The following item taken from the State Center Enterprise, Iowa, will be read with interest by the readers of this column, as Ed. Fish was known far and wide and still has many friends in this community, who regret his very sudden death.

"The people of this community were greatly shocked Friday evening when Edward S. Fish, a long time resident of State Center dropped dead while engaged in cutting up a tree that had just been felled in front of his home. Apparently in his usual health, he was working when he mentioned to his fellow workers that he was tired and feeling dizzy and in a few brief moments he passed away. His death occurred at about 4:45 and was pronounced due to embolism. Mr. Fish had suffered a slight attack February 2 but recovered in a couple of days and was apparently in his usual health until the hour of his death. Edward S. Fish was born in Franklin Grove, 1859, where he lived until he came to State Center in 1881. March 10, 1883 he was married to Miss Edith Robey and they made their home at Lament until 1888 when they moved to State Center. Mrs. Fish and a daughter, Catherine, who lives at home survive as does a sister, Mrs. Frank Bates of Franklin Grove, Ill. Few men make and hold as many friends as did Edward Fish. His ready smile and cherry good nature at all times, endeared him to all who made his acquaintance. Ever ready to inconvenience himself to any extent to help another, quick to rejoice sincerely and wholeheartedly in the good fortune of others, and equally ready to extend his warm sympathy in their troubles, Edward Fish was regarded with respect and affection by all. "Uncle Fish" to every boy and girl of his acquaintance. His sudden passing has brought sorrow to scores of his little friends and his old ones will tremendously miss his cheery greeting as he went his way through his later years, never missing an opportunity to make someone's burden lighter. We are proud to say that he was our friend and neighbor, and scores of others will second us when we say that we never had a better one. The Enterprise is joined by the entire community in extending deepest sympathy to the bereaved ones. The home was opened on Sunday afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock, at which time many friends paid their respects to the memory of the departed. The funeral services were from the home Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock, with interment in Hillside cemetery. Rev. Bert S. Bailey conducting the services."

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Hain entertained with dinner Sunday. Mr. John Howard and daughter, Miss Mae, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Howard and family, Mrs. George Charters and Mrs. Joe Wetzel of Ashton attended the funeral of their friend, Miss Mary Brown, Friday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Bratton of Rockford were Sunday visitors at the home of his sister, Mrs. Clyde Speck. After an illness of six weeks suffering from heart trouble, Mrs. Abe L. Fish passed away at her home in Sterling, Ill., March 12. Mary Elizabeth Webb, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Webb of Franklin Grove, was born in Pennsylvania in 1863 and at an early age came with her parents to make their home in Franklin Grove. At that place she was married to Abe L. Fish, who was for many years employed as conductor on the C. N. W. Ry. Following their marriage they resided in Chicago for about thirty-one years. Nearly thirteen years ago Mr. Fish was assigned the run as conductor on the Peoria passenger at which time he and his wife moved to Sterling where they have since made their home. Besides her husband, the deceased is survived by two daughters and one son, Mrs. H. T. Morah of Sterling, Mrs. Rasmussen of Chicago and Elburn L. Fish of Milton, Wis., two sisters and one brother, Mrs. Maggie Buck and Mrs. Mita Bates and Chester Webb, all of Dixon. Funeral services were held in Sterling, Monday afternoon, the body was brought to Franklin Grove for interment. Among the relatives present at the funeral were, George Bratton, Mrs. Walter Morgan, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Bratton of this place, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Harms, of Rochelle, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Bratton of West Chicago.

Truman Nell of West Chicago visited Monday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Amos Wilson.

The condition of Mrs. Belle Thompson is not as encouraging as her friends had hoped for.

The church night meeting held at the Methodist church Tuesday night was a very pleasant time. About sixty-five were present and enjoyed the wonderful supper that the ladies had provided, consisting of roast beef, noodles, mashed potatoes, peaches and cream. The social hour which followed as well as the study hour were heartily enjoyed.

The library was opened to the public Saturday in its new location the Town Hall. If you have not visited the Library since the new location, better do so. You will surely be surprised at how nice it looks, and what a lovely display of the large collection of books. The move has proven to be a good one as the hall is more central and more roomy than the other place. The ladies who have worked so hard and untiring that the library might be ready for the public in so short a time are entitled to much credit. If there are those in this community who do not belong to the library association you are most cordially invited to become a member at once. The membership is but fifty cents a year. The library is opened Wednesday afternoon, Saturday afternoon and evening. No better reading can be had than in our library and surely none can object to the price of fifty cents a year. A house to house canvass will be made soon, for members, so better get your fifty cents ready and thus aid one of the best institutions in the town.

Rev. and Mrs. L. V. Sittler, Misses Bertha Zoeller, Helen Adams, Lorene Crum, Melba Phillips attended the Epworth League institute at Mendota the last of the week. They report a splendid meeting and a large crowd.

Miss Gladys Moser will spend the week end in Dixon with her aunt, Mrs. Arthur Clayton.

The Aid Society of the Presbyterian church will meet next Thursday at the home of Mrs. Jesse Dysart.

The many friends of Mrs. Susan Lott will be glad to learn that she is improving in health.

Those from a distance to attend the funeral of Miss Mary Brown were Mrs. Hattie Blair and son Earl, of Cleveland, Ohio, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Blair and daughters, Misses Mabel and Ruth.

Virgil Patch went to Springfield, Monday to spend a few days transacting business at that place.

George Carpenter of Amboy was a Franklin Grove visitor Saturday. Services will be held in the Brethren church Sunday morning and evening.

Mrs. William Petrie of Ashton visited Monday at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Hannawalt.

Mrs. Marcus Gonneman and daughter, Miss Nettie, entertained Sunday for dinner, Mr. and Mrs. John Cordes and son Donald, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Semmler of Ashton.

A series of services beginning Sunday evening and continuing until Easter, alternating with the Ashton church is being planned. The schedule for the Franklin Grove church is as follows:

March 21—Sunday evening, Thank offering service under auspices of Woman's Foreign Missionary Society. Music in charge of Standard Bearers.

March 22—Tuesday evening.

March 23—Thursday night.

March 25—Palm Sunday morning, Baptism and reception of members.

March 29—Monday evening.

March 31—Wednesday evening.

Obituary (Continued)

Miss Mary Elizabeth Brown, eldest daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Brown, Sr., of Franklin Grove, Ill., died at her home Thursday morning, March 11, after an illness of four months due to pernicious anaemia.

She was born at Inlet Grove, Ill., May 29, 1849, and came to Franklin Grove in early childhood residing here ever since. At the time of her death she had attained the age of 76 years, 9 months and 21 days. For over forty years, she was afflicted with the business life of the community, having conducted a millinery store until February 1925, when failing health forced her retirement. Throughout her business career, she won many lasting friendships by her jovial nature, good will and courtesy of manner. Miss Brown was generous to a fault, many a little girl in this community each year of the forty or more years has been made happy on Decoration Day or the 4th of July by a new hat given by Miss Brown. Thus her death has caused grief among both young and old, one which time only can heal.

The deceased leaves to mourn her departure: two sisters, Mrs. Hattie Blair of Cleveland, Ohio, and Miss Lottie Brown which whom she resided; two nephews, Carl Blair of Wheaton, and Earl Blair of Cleveland, O. Several grandnieces and nephews, also a foster son Paul Reed whom she raised to young manhood from a child of six years, and a host of loving friends who will miss her as one of those whose sympathetic nature won for her many friends. Funeral services were held in the Presbyterian church Saturday afternoon. Rev. Thomas Jones preaching. Rev. Sittler sang two funeral hymns. Interment was made in the Franklin cemetery, with the following pall bearers: Messrs John Howard, Horace Dysart, L. L. Emmert, Joe Gilbert, John Weigle and James Lincoln.

The following poem was read by Rev. Sittler at the request of the family, which was very touching the fact being the two nephews Carl and Earl Blair had spent the larger part of their childhood days at the home of their Aunt Mary, and each year they with their families made a visit to Aunt Mary's.

Out to Old Aunt Mary's
By James Whitcomb Riley.

Wasn't it pleasant, O brother mine,
In those old days of the lost sunshine
Of youth—when the Saturday's chores
Were through,
And the Sunday's wood in the kitchen,
en, too
And we went visiting—me and you
Out to our Aunt Mary's.

It all comes back so clear today
Though I am as bald as you are gray.
Out by the barn lot and down the lane,
We patter along in the dust again—
As light as the tips of the drops of rain,
Out to our Aunt Mary's.

Ah! was there ever, so kind a face
And gentle as hers, or such a grace
Of welcoming, as she cut the cake;
Or the juicy pies—that she loved to make?
Just for the visiting children's sake
Out to dear Aunt Mary's.

And as many a time have you and I—
Barefoot boys in the days gone by—
Kneelt and in tremulous ecstasies
Dipped our lips into sweets like these.
Memory now is on her knees
Out to dear Aunt Mary's.

For, O my brother so far away,
This is to tell you—She waits today
To welcome us. Aunt Mary fell
Asleep this morning, whispering "Tell
The boys to come"—And all is well
Out to old Aunt Mary's.

The GOLDEN COCOON

by RUTH CROSS

Copyright, 1924, by Harper & Brothers
"The Golden Cocoon" with Helene Chadwick is a picturization of this novel by Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.

SYNOPSIS

Gregory Cochran, lawyer and political leader, is sheltering in his mother's home Molly Shannon, university student, whom he rescued from the river, when, wandering aimlessly at night, she plunged in. Molly had become dependent when deserted by her fiancé, Stephen Renfro, efficiency expert, who married the daughter of "rich old Jim Dilworth." Cochran, proving a true friend, is gradually winning Molly's confidence and she is relating her sorrows to him.

She was magnificent indeed. She was faultless, consummate—in every detail from the exquisite waves of silver drawn from brow to ears, the web of creamy old lace at throat and wrists, to the hem of her lustrous black silk. Her magnificence consisted, though, not in her clothes; neither in her coiffure nor in the perfection of her grooming. Molly saw that at once, even while she shivered into nothingness in comparison. No, she was innately and predestinedly magnificent. It was in the very way she stood on the threshold—the quietness of poise, the last word in presence. One had not far to seek where her son came by his earnestness of motion, his "serene as a god above a storm."

To the latter she addressed herself, without noting, apparently, that there was anyone else in the room. "Glad dear, the telephone is really getting too much for me,

After a barely perceptible pause, the older woman bowed—slightly.

and, besides, you know you're due in the court-room at eleven."

"Yes, mother, I'm just coming. But—while you're here, I'm coming to meet Miss Shannon."

He stepped a little to one side that there might be no further supposition of Molly's not being seen. "Miss Shannon, my mother."

After a barely perceptible pause, the older woman bowed—slightly. She was looking rather over Molly than at her, and she did not advance a step farther into the room.

Molly bowed also—in silence. "Miss Shannon, by the way, is going back to school on Monday," he added, unperturbed by his mother's evident disapproval of Molly and all that had to do with her. "We've just agreed it's the best possible thing." He turned to Molly with a humorous question in his eyes. "We have agreed, haven't we?"

"At least you have," she answered soberly.

"It comes to the same. And, mother—I want you to ask Miss Shannon to have dinner with us as soon as she feels up to it—say tomorrow evening or the evening after."

There was a second pause, more portentous than the first, in the air was a measuring of words. Molly felt it—over her head—as plainly as though she heard the clank of steel—why, she asked herself, dully resentful, should they be crossing swords over her? She didn't want to have dinner with them. She didn't want anything—but to be left alone.

At last Sarah Cochran said slowly but with meticulous courtesy, "We shall be glad to have Miss Shannon any time she cares to come, I'm sure." Her eyes were fixed, not on the prospective guest, but on her son.

CHAPTER XVIII

Stephen Renfro's marriage was still a nine days' wonder, on everybody's lips, at the reassembled university. Whichever Molly went and knew that his name was whispered. Curious, speculative, no doubt pitying glances were exchanged behind her back. Occasionally some one more inquisitive—or less considerate—than the rest spoke of him to her. Here and there a darker suspicion raised its head, a suspicion never lacking where a woman has been scorned and thrown aside. There was Miss Brian too. She never said anything, but her very existence was a silent reminder, an unintentional reproach.

All that did not matter so much—once the first dreadful step was taken. Molly soon found she was incased in a practically seamless armor of apathy and indifference, which turned aside each recurring blow. She held the friendly and the curious alike at arm's length, went her way and asked nothing of anybody but to be let alone. The truth was, one poison had killed another.

To keep moving was her only salvation. Across her tiny room she went continuously back and forth while she conned her lessons or in the corridor moved up and down, up and down, to the rhythm of French verbs and Latin meters. Every hour that she could spare she was out of doors, walking feverishly, driven by her own particular allotment of furies. She covered every foot of road and trail and open country within reach again and again; walked until she was so spent she could not choose but lie quietly at night, even if she did not sleep. More often than not, when Gregory Cochran was in town, he would drop by the dormitory after the study hour, and the two of them would walk round and round the "perip" until bedtime—Molly's bedtime, which was early. Frequently not a word was spoken. He was notably the least talkative man in the state.

Mrs. Parker knew nothing of what had taken place after Molly left her house that August evening save what Cochran saw fit to tell her of an "accident" in the street. He did not mince words particularly as to her own remissness in letting the girl go out alone—under the circumstances. This weighed but lightly, however, on Mrs. Parker's ricocheting spirits. Assured that her protégée was in no serious danger—though she could not be moved for some weeks—her elastically hopeful old mind leaped at once to the gratifying conclusion that the "hand of the Lord" was in it. Before Gregory Cochran's broad and well-tailored back was fairly turned on the boarding-house he was a marked man.

As months passed and Cochran's kindly oversight of Molly's fate showed no signs of falling off, elation waxed to such a triumphant intensity that she could not refrain from some hint of her prophetic imaginings—with the hope, no doubt, of having them confirmed. "Just wait 'til Stephen Renfro sees you in the Governor's mansion!" she exclaimed openly one day, when Molly had dropped in for a little kitchen visit. The visits were briefer and farther apart of late. They seemed not to have so much to talk about. "I reckon that'll make him sit up and take notice!"

Molly looked at her for some moments in blank and unenlightened silence. Her mind groped vainly for any intelligible point of contact. She had, of course, heard Gregory Cochran named in connection with the governorship, but no relation between that fact and herself had ever occurred to her. It did not occur to her now.

"Please," she concluded earnestly, "you must not only never say such a thing again; you mustn't even think of it. I'm no more to him than a half-drowned kitten he's pulled out of a slimy pond and warmed back to life. He's as impersonal as—God."

Mrs. Parker shook her head, fondly unconvinced, but she agreed straightway to keep her own counsel, and Molly passed on to the business which had brought her over. She had saved fifteen dollars toward repaying the money she owed. "I wish it were the whole seventy-five," she said, opening her handbag and taking out the bills. "I know how much you need it."

The other pushed the money back across the table with fussy hands, ruminating absently that she was not to bother her head about it. Far removed from such gross and earthy matters, she was rapidly envisaging Molly in a trailing velvet gown, hair done high, and jewels at her throat, basking and leaping in the Governor's mansion. "You don't owe it to me, now," she added, still from the depths of her trance.

Molly stared. "What do you mean—I don't owe it to you?" she demanded.

The fairy godmother raced back from the Governor's ball, minus her coach and four, and arrived at some what panicky and out of breath. "Why," she stammered, "I wasn't thinkin'."

"If I don't owe it to you," Molly persisted, not taking her eyes for an instant off the scared old face, "to whom do I owe it?"

"Oh, shucks! I wasn't payin' any attention to what I was sayin'." Mrs. Parker pothered madly. "Of course you owe it to—"

"To whom do I owe it?" Molly repeated, her voice chilling with the certainty of the truth.

THE YELLOW STUB

COPYRIGHT 1926 BY REA SERVICE, INC.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

HENRY RAND, 55, a business man, is being murdered in a cheap hotel in Grafton. Police find a woman's handkerchief and the stub of a yellow theater ticket.

JIMMY RAND, his son, goes to Cleveland, where the theater is. The stub is traced to THOMAS FOGARTY, who says he gave it to OLGA MAYNARD, a cabaret singer.

Jimmy meets and falls in love with MARY LOWELL. Later he encounters Olga. She faints per se paid. Jimmy, out with SAMUEL CHURCH, a wealthy lawyer, sees Jimmy lifting Olga into a taxi and misunderstands.

Olga tells police the handkerchief and stub might have come into possession of a man who "picked her up" two nights before the murder. Jimmy receives several mysterious warnings to leave Cleveland but ignores them. Later he is attacked at night by two men, but escapes.

With Jimmy and Mary estranged, Church presses his advantage and gets Mary's promise to marry him. Mary tells Jimmy this when they meet. Jimmy, trying to hurt her, accuses her of marrying for money.

That evening, with Olga, he sees the man they are looking for—the man who is supposed to have got the ticket stub—in an automobile. It is one of the men who had attacked Jimmy. They follow the car, but the man and his companion escape. Later they recognize his picture in the Bertillon records as that of IRE JENSEN.

That same night Jimmy goes home to his room to find another warning letter.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

JIMMY, studying the letter, frowned. It was written in the same large, scrawly hand as the first one.

"This is your last chance," it said. "Either leave town in three days or they'll be carrying you out in a pine box."

He shrugged his shoulders, laughing. "Persistent cuss, whoever it is. Rising from his chair, he peeled off his coat and vest, lit a cigarette and threw himself down on the bed to smoke and reflect.

"It couldn't very well have been the man who was with me tonight," he said. "Unless, of course, they brought it or sent it here early in the evening. Who was it? Who is it that's writing this stuff?"

He jumped up from the bed and extinguished his cigarette. "And how in the devil did the darned thing get there? No stamp on it or anything. It's spooky—actually spooky!"

He turned out the light and hoped into bed.

Mrs. King was in the kitchen when he came downstairs—it was just a little past six thirty—and he thought, "What a hard working woman she is. Get up with the light and works till all hours at night."

"Good morning, Mrs. King," he said. "I found a letter in my room last night. How did it get there—do you know? It didn't come through the mail."

"Why, yes," she turned from the gas range and out of habit thrust her hands into her pocket. "A boy brought it shortly after you went out last evening."

"A boy, eh?" This was quite unexpected.

"Yes, a little fellow of perhaps ten or eleven."

Arrived at the laundry office, he found that the man named Porter had left word with the delivery clerk, in shirt sleeves and vest, a pencil stuck behind his ear, asked

"What a world!" remarked Jimmy, and laughed. He had driven out of the delivery barn and was actually laughing upon his newest and rarest—job.

Following the directions laid down in the route handed him by the shirt-sleeved clerk, he turned off the main thoroughfare at the street he had been looking for and soon found himself in a neat and well-kept residential neighborhood.

"Well, do your stuff, Rand," he laughed as he brought the delivery truck to a stop. "Let's see." He glanced again at his little sheet of papers. "Smith—that's right."

He searched through his bundles, found the right one and started up the driveway to the back door. It suddenly occurred to him that this right now that this is no blind alley job. A man who's on his toes all the time and who gets a new business will find advancement waiting for him. Besides, there's a commission offered for new regular customers. This is a young concern and there's room here for brains. That's just a friendly tip. Now get out and see how it goes.

"Here's your route," he handed Jimmy a sheet of papers. "Know the city?"

"Fairly well."

"Well, I've taken the trouble to lay out your route for you so you can cover it in the least time. Good luck."

"Thanks," Jimmy offered his hand, and the shirt-sleeved man shook it.

"Looks like a pretty bright guy," remarked the clerk to a fellow worker as Jimmy climbed into the truck. "No foolish questions, like some of the dummies that come in here. A lot of these morons that claim to be truck drivers can't be trusted to wheel a baby carriage, much less run an automobile."

"What a world!" remarked Jimmy, and laughed. He had driven out of the delivery barn and was actually laughing upon his newest and rarest—job.

He searched through his bundles, found the right one and started up the driveway to the back door. It suddenly occurred to him that this new job of his, laughable as it had seemed at first, might not be a bad thing.

"If I'm looking for Mr. Jensen," he said, "I'll surely have more chance of running into him if I'm driving around town all the time than if I were working inside some office."

The problem of finding Jensen, he thought, might be a matter of pure luck. This job of his would take him into odd places and a fellow could always keep his eyes open. . . . He mounted the back porch and knocked at the door.

It was opened by a little woman with black hair. A curly-headed boy of perhaps two and a half years tugged at her dress; another and younger baby sat in a high chair, eating cereal.

"Laundry, ma'am," he said, offering the bundle

FREEPORT HIGH IN FINALS FOR STATE PENNANT

Meets Canton Tonight at Urbana After Defeating Athens

Tonight's Schedule
7:30 p. m. Flora vs Athens.
8:30 p. m. Canton vs Freeport.

Urbana, Ill., Mar. 20.—(AP)—Canton and Freeport will meet here tonight for the Illinois high school basketball championship, having emerged victorious in the first round play of the state tournament finals last night. Flora and Athens, the two losing teams will meet in a consolation game to determine third and fourth places in the final standing.

Freeport won the right to enter the final by defeating the Athens five 21-15. Freeport got off to a bad start, but forged to the lead near the end of the contest as a result of superior offensive work.

The other finalist, Canton, downed the flashy little Flora quintet in a hard fought game 20-18. The game was a thriller, Canton winning by a terrific spurt in the last few minutes of play.

Sporting News Writes Up Dixon Ball Player

The Sporting News, published in St. Louis, this week contained the following concerning Ward Miller of this city:

Ward T. Miller, outfielder of the old Cubs, St. Louis Federals, and St. Louis Browns, is a candidate for sheriff at the Republican primaries in his home county of Lee, Illinois. If Miller is elected, and sheriffs as he played baseball, Lee County will have one able officer. Miller was one of the last of the old timers who went at the business of playing baseball for all there was in it. Ward T. never spared himself, his legs, arms, his voice, or his neck in giving the public service for value received. Ward was a really good left-handed hitter, a good fielder and a good base runner. If he gets after criminals as he went after fly balls and runs, he will make Lee County, Illinois a good place for honest people and perfect hell for those who are dishonest. Those who knew Miller as a baseball player, cannot wish the people of Lee County any better luck than that they elect Ward Miller sheriff. He is, naturally, a clean-cut, clean up American, a man who does not know what the word failure means.

Grange is No Ideal for Boys Says Newark Leader

Newark, N. J., Mar. 20.—(AP)—In the opinion of school officials here, Red Grange is no ideal for boys, so Frederick W. Ball, chairman of the stadium committee of the Newark Board of Education, refused the use of the Newark stadium in connection with Grange's appearance at a luncheon here today.

"I do not think Grange is the type of man who should be held up to our school children as an idol or ideal," Ball said. "I have nothing against professionalism and if Grange had finished his college career I would not have had anything to say."

R. D. Warden, director of physical education, ordered the training directors under him not to attend the luncheon for Grange. He said it looked too much like advertising.

Meanwhile it was announced in New York that Grange was planning to take his team to Europe to play a series of games in Paris in June.

BERLENBACH IS GIVEN TERRIFIC BEATING FRIDAY

Erstwhile Baker From Cleveland All But Puts Him Out

New York, Mar. 20.—(AP)—Johnny Risko of Cleveland, who pulled his hands out of the dough pan and pushed them into a pair of boxing gloves not so long ago, today has a good chance to put his hands on dough of another kind.

The former baker last night battered the light-heavyweight champion, Paul Berlenbach, almost into insensibility in a ten round scuffle at Madison Square Garden. No championship was at stake, but Berlenbach was trying his wares on the heavyweight ranks for the first time with the intention of reaching for Jack Dempsey's crown.

Berlenbach lasted through the fight with difficulty. He hit the canvas in the first and second rounds but held his feet for the remainder of the bout, a very weary man. Often he scored to his adversary's head but there was no damage.

A pile driving left was flung at Berlenbach repeatedly and several times it landed, carrying everything before it.

Berlenbach, by state commission rules, had to make the weight of his class. He weighed 174-12 and Risko 170.

Ninth inning rallies still figure in baseball games. The Chicago White Sox proved that at Fort Worth when they defeated the Panthers, 9-8.

The California baseball mart will be bearish today, two Chicago Cub teams being scheduled for games. The regular meet the Angels at Los Angeles while the Goofs mix with the Seattle club at Long Beach.

Ernie Nevers, All-American football star, now a pitcher, at Tarpon Springs, Fla., for the St. Louis Browns, kept his goal line safe for four periods and that is all that can be expected of a football man. He finished in the fifth and Brooklyn scored twice winning 9-5.

The Giants at Sarasota are pleased over the recovery of Frank Frisch who has been troubled with laryngitis.

Mayor Walker of New York failed to arrive at St. Petersburg in time to see the Yanks play a 12 inning 6-6 tie with the Boston Braves. A tie for the Yanks is a moral victory. The Braves are resting today.

The Boston Red Sox had their usual quota of rain at New Orleans but they got in 15 minutes hard practice between thunderstorms.

The American League champion Senators were enjoying sweet revenge today. The Senators and Phillies were locked at 7 all at Bradenton, when Bill Morrell, New Haven recruit, took the mound for Washington. He held the Phils to two scratch hits in the four innings and in the 10th frame singled, scoring the tallying run.

The Pirates today start a three game series with the Mission Bears at San Francisco, after having twice defeated the Seals, Frisco's other entry.

The Detroit Tigers plays its first exhibition game at Augusta training camp today when Cobbs squad meets the Toronto Internationals.

The pruning knife has been put to work in the Cardinal camp and four players released. Outfielder Roettger and Pitchers Miller and Carleton were released to Syracuse of the International League and Outfielder Taylor was turned back to the Shreveport Texas League club.

Good pitching and fielding helped the Athletics defeat the Buffalo Internationals 5-3 in an exhibition game at Fort Myers.

Five eastern state champions are the latest of 21 teams bid to the National interscholastic basketball tourney at the University of Chicago March 30 to April 3. Forty quintets, virtually all state titlists will meet in the national championships.

INDEPENDENTS IN VICTORY FRIDAY OVER ROCK FALLS

Defeat Former Conquerors 24 to 23 in Hard Battle

The Y. M. C. A. Independents defeated the Rock Falls Methodists on the Y floor last night after a hard fought game by a final score of 24 to 23. At Rock Falls last week the Methodists were able to win from the Independents after an extended game by a score of 24 to 23.

The Rock Falls team took a good lead last night and seemed to have a good advantage during the first quarter. At the end of the half the Independents had recovered and were one point in the lead with a score of 8 to 7. Rink of the Independents was off form and missed many shots which should have been sure shots. He was unable to get right through out the game.

The second half was the Independents half throughout. James ran true to form and scored ten points. Rock Falls made substitutions in a final effort to get a combination that could bring them from behind and assure them of victory. These tactics proved unavailing and the Independents held their lead by putting forth a hard hitting offense at the last minute. The final score of 24 to 18 gave the Dixon team a hard earned but well deserved victory.

Volley Ball Teams to Play Freeport This Eve

Volley ball players have rallied to the call and two teams will journey to Freeport tonight to give battle to two picked teams of that city.

The local team is in good condition and will undoubtedly give a good account of itself in the games tonight. The past six weeks have been of great importance in the developing of the team to its present form. The contests held in the classes at the Y have brought together the best passers and spikers that could be found in the city and their working together has developed a fast hard hitting team. The players will leave for Freeport about 6:30. Reports of victory (or defeat) will appear Monday evening.

Charity Swindles Reach Big Sum Yearly in U. S.

New York, Mar. 20.—(AP)—More than $100,000,000 is "swindled" annually throughout the United States by bogus charitable promoters in the opinion of Public Welfare Commissioner Bird S. Caler, as quoted in the first of a series of articles in the New York Evening Post today.

Charity drives, organized by professional promoters and high pressure salesmen, both a backwash of the world war, are launched for anything that promises big financial returns with from 40 to 90 percent of the receipts going into the pockets of the promoters Mr. Caler says. Drives are launched supposedly for crippled orphans, tubercular foundlings, starving Russians or religious motto societies and even for tubercular war veterans.

FINE SERMONS BY SUPT. LUMSDEN AT METHODIST CHURCH

Congregations Have Been Inspired by Sermons
During the Week

Dr. E. C. Lumsden, district superintendent, preached a sermon on "The Value of an Experience" to a large congregation at the Methodist church Friday evening, concluding the special meetings of the week which he has conducted there. Thursday evening Dr. Lumsden gave an inspirational address on "The Value of the Cross," in which he said in part:

Matt. 27:32, "And Jesus Bore His Cross." Greater love hath no man than he that giveth his life for the cross. "God forbid that I should glory save in the cross of our Lord Jesus Christ," Paul.

Cross Stands For

The great truth of the cross is the evidence of God's great love for humanity, and man's value for God and for the saving of his soul. The cross belongs to the sky. It is written into the thinking of man more than any other reality or any other event in the history of the world. Eventually it means that all must reckon with it, either now or when they meet him face to face. There is no other way to God than by the cross of Jesus. It is the emblem of safety and life. The world today could well afford to accept the teaching of the cross and make the world safe for democracy. This love which emanates from the cross radiates the entire globe. It spreads the sunshine of the value of human brotherhood, and the sacredness of man. Man comes to be worth more than gold and what would it profit a man if he should gain the world and lose his own soul? A group of men shipwrecked wondered where they might be, and climbing to a high peak saw in the distance the cross on the church steeple, and immediately they knew they were safe. The ones who worship under the cross can be trusted. What a feeling of comfort. What a wholesome world this would be if all men would live under the spell and magnetism of the Cross of Jesus.

How Understand the Cross

Is there any reason why any man should reject the cross. He stands here beneath its influence and everywhere he goes he knows that he is safe, and that all men who actually accept its teaching will be saved. It was Paul who stood out against the great Roman empire and proclaimed the cross; it was Luther who, fired by the inner conviction of his life heralded the beauty to the dawn of the modern world; it was Knox who fearlessly felt his commission to keep Scotland free from the religious yoke of tyranny. It was Wesley who in the tone of deepest sweetness let the light of the cross shine through his life so that today millions believe in God because of his life. The meaning of the cross in our modern life would eliminate all strife and bigotry. It would mean the golden rule in all transactions. It would mean the trustworthiness of all peoples and the solving of our great crime question. It is the Way of the Cross that Leads home. It is the most talked of event in all history. Its emblem stands for purity of life, love for humanity and sacrifice for the betterment of the world, which is unselfishness.

Christians Love for Cross

The crucifixion is the essential part in the life of Christ. There had been 4000 crosses along the Appian Way and yet this cross is the only one which has been remembered and which has influenced the world. Why? Because of the character of Christ who died thereupon. It was his life that was being given a ransom for the sins of the world. It was his innocence which has made its appeal to the hearts of men. It is not the wooden cross, nor the physical body which died on the cross. If we could have preserved it all in the whole it would not perform miracles, but the magnetism of His life has the transforming power to save the soul from self-destruction and its sin. The cross stands for service. Just as Jesus felt the duty of life and would not shrink any part of it even though the cross stood in the way, just so it impels us to find the way of life in duty even should it mean the cross. It recalls for us a life well lived and a work well done. It was Jesus who could cry with a loud voice "It is finished." His work was completed. He did not live by half or parts, his was a complete life. What would happen to the world should Jesus have avoided the cross? What would still happen to the world avoid following the path of duty? We as Christian men and women would follow in His steps when we do His will.

What Does the Cross Mean?

It is a permanent fascination. It touches the deepest strains of the heart and puts us in tune with the infinite God. It means the deepest thing in the heart of God. Love. There was no price that God would not pay for your soul and mine. He had the world, and all things therein, but this did not get close to us. But when he lived His life in the life of Jesus it brought the life of God to the very heart of man. It touched our heart strings. It was God reconciling the world with himself. It makes us remember the hideousness of sin. Its blackness could not at putting to death the Holy One of God. It laughed to scorn all who dared to proclaim faith in it. Jesus knew how destructive sin was and therefore wanted to help mankind get strength to conquer the weakness they were possessed with. Sin is the treachery against God, and the cross is the voice of God in the world. Greater love hath no man than he that giveth means God's confidence in man. He knew we would respond to it, even should it take a long time. It showed that Jesus expected every man to respond, and therefore without fear he gave himself. It showed his trust in God, and the plan of God for the world. We are in the cross the need of every soul. We have come short the glory of God, but here in this great act of the Cross Jesus makes it possible for us to find help to overcome these shore comings. Look in to your soul and see the hidden things that should come out. You have been careless, negligent, and even opposite to the meaning of the Cross, will you come to Him and let Him help you to get right with God or will you let the cross fall upon you as a great crusher. Compare your way of living with Christ's and with what you think God would have you.

Heroism.

The Cross stands for heroism. Jesus not afraid of duty. It stands for faith. Faith in the eternal principles of God. Faith in the redeeming of the world and his own life as the means thereby. It stands for sympathy. It was Jesus who forgot himself and prayer for the ones who treated him so shamefully. Here the sin sick soul can find healing. It can find comfort, joy and freedom from the possessing passions of life which he cannot otherwise break. It is great mystery, but so is the body, so is food, so is water, and so is life and so is death, but it is all there and so is the power of God as it works in the soul of man to bring it release. Contact with Jesus will prove itself.

Mrs. Mary O'Malley died at her home, 713 Ottawa ave., Dixon, Thursday evening, March 11, at 10:15 o'clock, following an illness of several weeks duration. The funeral was held at St. Patrick's Catholic church Monday morning at 9 o'clock, Rev. Fr. Michael Foley officiating. Burial was at Oakwood cemetery by the side of her husband, who died Oct. 12, 1906.

Mary Weeks was born in Rochester, N. Y., Jan. 6, 1855 and came to Illinois with her parents when three years of age, settling in Lee county, where she grew to womanhood. In February, 1873, she was married to Michael O'Malley, a prosperous farmer and highly respected citizen of Marion township. Ten years ago she moved from her country residence and made her home in Dixon until her death.

Mrs. O'Malley was the mother of seven children, four of whom, Patrick, Frank, William and Thomas—preceded her in death. Two sons, Austin J. of Dixon and Dr. Joseph M. of Ohio, III, and a daughter, Mrs. Thomas Coyle of Chicago, survive and mourn her passing. She also is survived by seven grandchildren and an only sister, Mrs. Anna O'Malley of this city. She was an estimable woman, kind, loving and charitable, and delighted in her

WALSH TRYING TO PREVENT HEARING ON DRY STATUTES

Sub-Committee Asks for Hearings Despite His Protests

Washington, Mar. 20—(AP)—Decision whether a flood of testimony on prohibition will be loosed upon the senate judiciary committee will depend largely on how much support Senator Walsh, demagogue of Montana, will find in his effort to overthrow the recommendation of a sub-committee that public hearings be held.

Over the senator's protest, the sub-committee of five decided yesterday to ask the full committee to hold hearings on various modification measures and he announced that his fight would be taken to the committee itself.

The proposed program, which would give the wets and dries six days each in which to present their arguments, has the full support of Senator Edge, republican of New Jersey and Bruce, democrat of Maryland, wet leaders. Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel for the Anti-Saloon League, said his organization was not opposed to the hearings, adding that it would fight at every step any effort to weaken or strike out the prohibition law.
